DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1 and 7, drawn to a method of screening a plant to determine whether said plant is a cross between Tripsacum and teosinte by probing genomic DNA with one or more DNA markers selected from the group consisting of maize nuclear DNA probes and determining the presence of one or more restriction fragments, classified in class 536, subclass 24.3, for example.
- II. Claims 2-12, drawn to a plant containing one or more novel restriction fragments identified by one or more molecular marker-enzyme combinations, derived from crossing a Tripsacum plant and a teosinte plant (or the reverse of said cross), wherein the hybrid of said cross is crossed with a maize plant to produce seed, classified in class 800, subclass 267, for example.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because:

Inventions I and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). The inventions are different because Invention II is drawn to a plant and Invention I is drawn to a method of screening a plant. The inventions have different modes of operation, different functions, and different effects due to each invention having different uses and different steps. In addition, the inventions are independent of each other as one is not required for the use of the other. Furthermore, searching the invention of group I together with the invention of group II would impose a serious search burden. In the instant case, prior art searches of a method of screening a plant to determine whether said plant is a cross between Tripsacum and teosinte by probing with genomic DNA with one or more markers are not coextensive with prior art searches of plants containing one or more novel restriction fragments. Search of each of these inventions would require different key word searches of each group using divergent patent and non-patent literature databases. The different searches would then require subsequent in-depth analysis of the unrelated prior art literature, placing a serious burden on the Office in terms of both search and examination. As such, it would be burdensome to perform examination of inventions I and II together.

Because the inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, classification, and fields of search, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under CFR 1.17(i).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
